PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, Nov 21.—The board of canvassers are at work to day. The electoral vote of Ascension and Avoyelles has been canvassed and both give Republican majorities.

Judge Stanley Matthews' Report.

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—The News special says the Cincinnati Gazette contains the following: Stanley Matthews returned from New Orleans yesterday and we had a brief conversation with him at his office in regard to the situation at that place. He had neither time nor inclination for a full interview but will probably give to the public to-day or to-morrow his personal observations in that State. Whatever Judge Matthews may state from his own knowledge was the result of his own personal investigation will have weight with the people. In the meantime, we are permitted to say that it is the opinion of Judge Matthews that with a free and fair election Louisiana is beyond doubt a Republican State, that a fair canvass of the votes according to the laws of that State and according to justice and right will give the electoral vote of the State to Hayes, that the election, as conducted in many parishes was a farce and fraud upon popular government, that the returns including those of intimidated parishes, will show a majority for the Democrats of not over 4,000, but a revision of the returns as required by law will give the Republicans a decisive majority; that mistakes in regard to Republican electors in one of the parishes will not amount to 400 votes and will not affect the general result. The returning board, he believes, will act fairly and impartially following the letter and spirit of the law. Evidence in regard to violence and intimidation in many of the parishes is overwhelming.

As an illustration may be mentioned the case of one of the voting precincts where colored men were marched to the polls between lines of armed white men and compelled to vote the Democratic ticket and then marched to another place where they received certificates that they had so voted, with which to protect them from violence, but the action of the returning board ought to give the State to Hayes, and that it ought to settle the controversy in the minds of all fair and intelligent men, he firmly believes. That the Democrats as a party will so accept the result he has grave doubts. The evidence of fraud and violence, and intimidation however, will be fully reported and the people of the North will have an opportunity to judge for themselves. The members of the returning board are fair men, and fully entitled to confidence. Dispatches are sent to the North from New Orleans by the Democrats of that city, who do not believe what they telegraph. It cannot be denied by candid, fair minded men, that Louisiana is a Republican State, that an election conducted without violence or intimidation or fraud would so resulted is beyond dispute. This is known to the Democrats as well as the Republicans, but the former set out to carry the State for Tilden at all hazards and without regard to law, justice or human life, and they are not now disposed to give it up. Where there was peace at the voting in what are called the bull dosed parishes, it was the result of violence and intimidation that preceded and where the colored men voted the Democratic ticket they did so in most cases to save their lives. It is the opinion of Judge Matthews that if the negroes were in any degree as vindictive, cold blooded and cruel as the lawless whites the South would be devastated, but colored people bear what white people would not endure for a day and they are the victims of their docility and forbearance. The white people of the Southern States however do not talk war. They know too well what that would mean. They know there is a magazine in their midst that if touched by the fire of civil war would explode with an effect that would be destructive and uncontrollable. If Northern people want free government controlled by popular suffrage, they must stand up for that which is right and legal, and manfully insist upon the enforcement of the constitution and the law.

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—The Times' New Orleans correspondent claims Louisiana for Hayes by 10,000 majority. Within the past 24 hours hundreds of Tilden's agents have been stationed there preparing and transmitting dispatches and addresses in which it is stated that the Republicans have bribed scores of witnesses to swear they were beaten and intimidated on and before the day of election and that upon such affidavits as these they will have the vote of the so called bull dosed parishes thrown out and the electoral vote of the State counted for Hayes and Wheeler. Of course stories of this kind are merely intended to influence people of the North. They are not believed by any sane resident of the cotton States.

Wheels Within Wheels.

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—Among the many wild rumors which have been flying around the city to day is one to the effect that the notorious Pinchback and ex Gov Warmouth have entered into a compact to defeat their common enemy Packard. I have not been able to trace the report to any trustworthy source but have no doubt that Warmouth is very intimate with two members of the returning board, and that he would do anything in his power to defeat Packard. Regarding Pinchback's claim that the same legislature which elected him also created the returning board and consequently he was entitle to a seat in the U S Senate there has been considerable excitement in political circles to day. This evening it was definitely ascertained that Pinchback's claim was a false one, for the law under which the present board acts was passed by the legislature of 1872 and not by the illegally constituted one which elected the would be Senator.

The city is very quiet and most of the merchants and business men have resumed their usual occupations, with a conviction that Hayes will be President of the United States.

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—The Tribune's New Orleans special says: Three parishes were counted to day and all parties are satisfied not only that the returns are correct but were properly counted. The excitement has subsided and the Northerners are generally returning.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov 21.—The returning board met at 11 [illegible] this morning. Gov Wells advocated the admitting of the crowd which was done. Zacharie filed the protest which he foreshadowed Monday, on behalf of the Democratic candidates for Congress. After a brief conference the board went into executive session and the hall was cleared. Northern Republican committee now consists of Eardsley of Illinois, Eugene Hale of Maine, Van Allen of New York and Garfield of Ohio. During the executive session the parish returns are placed on the table where sit the Republican and Democratic committees and they are invited to examine and see whether or no they have been disturbed or tampered with. The returns are then opened and consolidated for each elector [illegible]. The clerks then certify the [illegible] by the commissioners of elections. If these are correct the members of the [illegible]

NEW ORLEANS, Nov 21.—[illegible] the parishes called [illegible] Presidents of Republican clubs [illegible] gave the reasons [illegible]

Judge Spofford on behalf of the [illegible] protest against being excluded from the [illegible] during the canvass of the returns and against secret sessions. Counsel [illegible] protest against the [illegible] of supervisors [illegible] under the act of Congress [illegible] from the close of the [illegible] till all the ballots are counted. They also [illegible] District Attorney Beck [illegible] October 30 [illegible] in support of their positions. Protests were also filed by counsel for candidates for office against a recount. Counsel for the Democratic candidates [illegible] also protest on behalf of Democratic electors [illegible] named on the tickets used in the 14th senatorial district. The tickets contained Wm P Kellogg, J H Burch, Oscar Joffrone and two others. [illegible] protested against [illegible] not been cast in favor of said Joseph and others named [illegible] those specially named upon said tickets or ballots; second, [illegible] returns from said parishes [illegible] especially of Iberia and St Martin, showing all such ballots to have been cast for said Joseph and others [illegible] they being [illegible] fraudulent [illegible] and said votes to be counted for any electors except Kellogg, Burch and Joffrone whose names are only upon said ballots. Protests based upon grounds as follows: That the title to the position of elector can be derived only by a vote of the people and no vote can be given and counted except when placed in the ballot box; that electors were chosen under the [illegible] laws of the State which requires that the names of persons voted and the office shall be accurately specified on the tickets. The committee asked an investigation into the facts. A similar protest was filed against the counting of 2,200 ballots cast in the parishes [illegible] and Natchitoches for any electors except those named on the ticket, Kellogg, Burch, and Brewster. The parishes in the 14th senatorial district are Iberia, St Martin, Iberville and West Baton Rouge. The board in executive session about three hours examined returns in a number of parishes. It found that there are contests in nearly all the parishes canvassed by the returning board.

Ascension Tilden 1,200, Hayes 2,074. Assumption Tilden 1,680, Hayes 1,602. Avoyelles Tilden 1,471, Hayes 1,595. Calcasieu Tilden 1,208, Hayes 84. Cameron Tilden 245, Hayes 12. Point Coupee Tilden 1,060, Hayes 1,957. St Bernard Tilden 446, Hayes 691. St James Tilden 962, Hayes 1,98[illegible]. St John Baptist, Tilden 743, Hayes 1,287. These figures do not differ materially from the duplicate poll lists in the hands of Democratic committees. Of the nine parishes canvassed only two gave a Democratic majority, showing that most of the protests are by Republicans in Democratic parishes.

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—The Times New Orleans special on the situation says: We are actively preparing for the contest which is to come and are anxiously but quietly awaiting the result. It seems to be definitely understood by both parties that the vote of Louisiana must decide the Presidential election. The Democrats have given up South Carolina and are not nearly so confident about Florida as they were three days ago. In pursuance of their programme of influencing the public mind, the local Democratic leaders this morning brought a number of drunken negroes to the rooms of the national Democratic committee and displayed them as men who had voted the Democratic ticket from conviction. One or two of them made glowing statements of how they had been abused by the people of their own color because of their principles.

Florida.

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—The Times Tallahassee special says: A ripple has agitated the surface of things to day by the appearance of a telegram clipped from the Baltimore Gazette signed Wm Archer Cocke. Cocke is Attorney General and a member of the canvassing board, and certainly prejudices the case. Morally such prejudice disqualifies Cocke for an impartial investigation, which the country requires at his hands, and an impartial relation upon his associates, displays a taste amounting to bad temper. Here is the telegram in full:

TALLAHASSEE, Nov 20.—The returns of the county managers of election are not yet in. The board of State canvassers of which I, as Attorney General of state, am one, does not meet until 35 days after election, but you may rest assured that Tilden has carried the state, and that Drew, Democratic candidate for Governor, is also elected. I do not think the radicals can beat the Democrats out of the election. Signed, Wm Archer Cocke. Information from Democratic head quarters to day indicates herculean efforts to roll the charges and affidavits of fraud in Republican counties. Their agents laden with the needful are everywhere in search of impecunious affidavit managers and a rich haul is anticipated. In this way they hope to break the force of public judgment and hide from universal denunciation their unblushing methods.

TALLAHASSEE, Nov 21.—The Circuit Court has issued an injunction restraining Governor Stearns from canvassing the returns of the electoral vote and a mandamus requiring the board of canvassers to begin the count.

The injunction was applied for by the Democratic managers and was temporarily granted by the circuit court. It orders Gov Stearns to show cause on Thursday next why the injunction should not be made permanent. The mandamus commands the returning board to show cause why, on Thursday next, it should not also be made permanent.

There is an appeal possible to the Supreme Court which, however, does not meet until January except of its own volition. It convenes extra session before December 6th when electoral certificates must issue. Hence practically there is no appeal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The Tribune's Tallahassee special says the Democratic leaders have now realized the false position in which they have been placing themselves by asking that the canvassing of the Presidential vote shall begin while they are holding back returns for several strong Democratic counties, particularly from the county of Polk. In 1874 this county cast 338 Democratic to five Republican votes. Not one scintilla of evidence, official or otherwise, has been received as to the result there this year, and returns could be easily altered too late for detection to a sufficient extent to take the State away from Hayes.

South Carolina.

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—The second edition of the Times has this:

COLUMBIA, Nov 21.—The court room in the State house was thronged this morning with citizens anxious to hear the decision of the Supreme Court on the power and duties of the State board of canvassers. A large number of colored citizens were present. Yeomans opened the proceedings by a formal application for an order requiring the board of canvassers to report to the court the discrepancies found to exist in certain counties between the returns of county commissioners and those of the inspectors or managers of election. It appears when the board commenced examining the returns they compared those of the commissioners with those of the managers but finding it was going to occupy too much time they abandoned that after completing four or five counties and so far as they went wherever the discrepancies tended to increase the Republican majority on footing up the returns confined themselves to the commissioners' figures. In response to this application Chief Justice Moses remarked that he thought it premature as the board had not yet reported the count. When they did it would be time enough for counsel to object to the report if there were grounds for objection. In answer to the inquiry the court was informed that the board had not completed the examination of the returns for members of the Legislature and therefore could only make a partial report. After considerable discussion on the nature [illegible] of the order issued by the court on [illegible] the court finally [illegible] 1 o'clock by which [illegible] all the returns will have been canvassed by the board and they will be prepared to report. During the discussion referred to, Judge Willard took occasion to say that in his opinion counsel had mistaken the proper course to be taken in such cases. It should have been by a writ of [illegible] which would bring the whole record of the board of canvassers before the court. He did not think the order issued by the court on the 17th of [illegible] and he only consented to it on the ground that the court was empowered to issue a certiorari and such a primary order might give information to the court of the status of the parties.

The board of canvassers completed the aggregation of all returns this evening, and will report to morrow, when it is expected the court will decide on their power to go behind the returns and inquire into frauds. It is said that the Democrats are sorry now that they invoked an interference of the court at all, because if the court should decide against them the board will then proceed to investigate frauds under sanction of the action of the supreme court, whereas if the Democrats had not applied to the court they could go before the country with the cry that the board of canvassers is partisan and unworthy of public confidence.

Judge Bond arrived this morning and will open the U. S. District court Monday. He will proceed at once, likely to the trial of [illegible] arrested for riot and murder during the late canvass. He says these trials will develop the true state of things in South Carolina during the campaign and hopes evidence will be published in full in the Northern papers.

Affidavits have been sent here signed by 1,000 colored men in Edgefield county saying they were not permitted to vote at the election, and yet the returns from that county show a vote of 2,200 in excess of its number of citizens over 21 years of age as appears by the census of 1875. There are upwards of 50 commissioners and managers of elections and U S marshals here now ready to testify to frauds in elections and intimidation in Laurens, Edgefield, Barnwell and other counties.

TALLAHASSEE, Nov 21.—There is nothing new in the situation in Florida. Everything awaits the counting of the returns. Official returns received so far are from all but nine counties. The count will hardly be commenced this week.

Chief Justice Carter has just returned from South Carolina and reports that the State has gone for Hayes and Hampton beyond a possible reversal. The Democrats are perfectly satisfied. They made a Hayes and Hampton canvass. Hampton's only allusion to the national issue was that he could vote for Hayes and Wheeler with great pleasure. Hampton has about 1,100 majority as has also Hayes. Untold intimidation prevailed in some counties. Butler, the negro massacre hero, admitted to Carter the existence of armed organizations to intimidate negroes, and Carter found many Democrats in South Carolina who were glad of the election of Hayes.

Counsel for the Democrats asked for a half hour's recess to enable them to examine the report, at the end of which they came into court armed with two orders which they asked the court to grant. The first required the board to forthwith certify to the election of all Assemblymen and Congressmen appearing to be elected on the face of the returns and commanding the secretary of State to issue certificates of election on this certification of the board. The second order restrains the board from filing certificates of election of any of the Presidential electors of the State and county officers, and directs them to set to work and compare the county returns with those of the precincts. The impudence of such a request astonished everybody except the lawyers who made it, and apparently took even the court by surprise. Mr Corbin being asked by Judge Moses what he had to say replied that he was so astonished by the extraordinary and unheard of application of council on the other side that he hardly knew what to say. He wished time to recover himself and ascertain whether he was insane or his opponents were. He then proceeded to comment on the remarkable attitude of the opposing counsel and their violation of all known rules of practice in asking for two separate judgments on one writ of mandamus. He was finally cut short by Moses who said no further argument on that point was needed, as the court agreed with him and should not grant the orders on the present state of the pleadings. The Democratic counsel then moved for liberty to change their pleadings and sever their two cases. After a long discussion by General Conner and Yeomans on behalf of the motion and by Corbin and Ackerman in opposition, it was granted by the court. There appeared to be little doubt among men of either party who witnessed proceedings to day that the decision of the court if it is ever reached will be in favor of granting the first order asked for by the Democrats, and many think they will grant them both. Judge Wright will probably dissent from the granting of either. The impression is that the decision will be in favor of issuing certificates to all parties according to the returns as they appear on their face. This would give the State to Hayes but would elect Hampton Governor and give the Democrats three majority on joint ballot in the Legislature. All Northern men of note on both sides have gone home.

The Concentration of Troops.

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—Regarding the concentration of troops at Washington the Times' Washington special says that probably no part of the country is so feverish and excited as Virginia and Maryland. Washington unprotected would be at the mercy of some reckless leaders who organizing a secret irresponsible force of 1,000 men might deem it a piece of heroism to plunder and burn the city. It is said in Baltimore badges are worn under the coat lappels by a class of roughs, labeled "Tilden or Blood," which are frequently exhibited to friends. It is also reported that a grey uniform and confederate flag were publicly displayed and cheered by the crowd in that city. Hardly a Democrat can be found about here who promises to submit to Hayes' inauguration.

The Tribune's Washington special says members of the administration display a mysterious silence in regard to the concentration of troops in Washington, which is doing far more to arouse apprehensions in the public mind than a frank statement of all the facts could possibly do. The cabinet cannot be coaxed into explanation.

Cameron said this morning that a few companies had arrived and there would be a few more here in a day or two, but that it was not an affair of much consequence. Troops were not needed at their former stations and had therefore been brought here. That was all. The government apprehended no difficulty.

Chandler said there was a few hundred soldiers in the city, only a few hundred, and he changed the subject when questioned further. When the facts about these warlike preparations are made known it will probably transpire that there has been no occasion for all the mystery that has been observed and that the officials might just as well have spared themselves the annoyance of making denials that had to be followed speedily by reluctant admissions. The whole truth seems to be that a small armed force is being assembled here consisting of light artillery, heavy artillery armed with Springfield muskets and infantry. Its effective strength will not much exceed 1,000 men. Naval preparations and orders make it probable that two or three ships of war will soon be at the Washington navy yard to reinforce this little army. There is nothing alarming or even astonishing in this small gathering of the national police at the capital. On the contrary assurance is afforded [illegible] their presence that the laws will take their course and that the excitement occasioned by the doubtful result of the Presidential election will not occasion a disturbance of the public peace. Apart from the security against turbulent acts growing out of heated partisan feeling, which it may be supposed prudent to obtain by the presence of troops, there are ordinary reasons sufficient [illegible] for the coming of a few companies. The arsenal has scarcely had protection enough of late to guard it against the [illegible] depredatory agents of junk dealers, and the forts near Washington have been left [illegible] of their garrisons [illegible] to meet the reinforcements for soldiers for the Indian campaign and in the Southern States. Three or four companies could very properly be stationed permanently in and near Washington. As for the rest, the War Department might as well frankly announce their coming as a result of the political situation. No one who is not looking for a solution of the Presidential problem by some revolutionary method would object to their presence. They can do no possible harm and they may do good.

The World's Washington special says: There is no longer any doubt that the administration decided at a secret cabinet meeting held one evening last week to garrison the city of Washington from now till after the 5th of March next, and even longer if its successors in office after that day do not order otherwise. This determination was considered again and adhered to at a conference held at Chamberlain's house Saturday evening. So secretly have these extraordinary steps been taken that the orders which have been sent for troops have neither been sent by mail nor telegraph but have been transmitted by special army officers detailed for that purpose.

Official Vote of Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Pa, Nov 21.—The official vote of Pennsylvania is Hayes 384,148, Tilden 366,204, Cooper 201, Smith (prohibition) 1,318.

The Vermont Muddle.

MONTPELIER, Vt, Nov 21.—The board of county clerks met to day and adopted resolutions declaring Sollace legally elected in direct [illegible]. It is stated that counsel for the contesting elector will apply for an injunction upon the action of the board on the ground that the board has been illegally acting.

How Stands it with Colorado?

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—A Washington dispatch says in regard to the power of the House of Representatives to throw out the vote of Colorado because its constitution as a State has not been approved by Congress, ex-Attorney General Williams, who has been studying into the matter, says that no action by Congress is necessary, as the State of Colorado has already been recognized by the Federal Government by proclamation of President Grant.

Still Another Legal Question.

NEW YORK, Nov 21.—The Herald says editorially: Our Raleigh correspondent sends us a report of the movement to throw out the whole electoral vote of North Carolina, on the ground that ballots were printed when the North Carolina statute says the names shall be written.

An Indignation Meeting.

ST LOUIS, Nov 21.—A large indignation meeting was held to night at National Hall, Third Congressional district, which was composed about equally of Republicans and Democrats and at which the action of the canvassing board in counting the votes for Mr Frost, Democratic candidate for Congress, which evidently were not cast for him, was denounced in unmeasured terms by both Democratic and Republican speakers. A resolution was adopted demanding that the person who changed the returns should be ferreted out and punished.

A Needless Scare.

CHICAGO, Nov 21.—The Tribune's Washington correspondent says the Jackson Democratic association to night resolved that under the circumstances of the presence of military here they would not participate in the Tilden and Hendricks parade on the 29th inst.

NEW YORK, Nov 22.—The Times' Washington special ridicules the scare attempted to be created by the presence of 400 soldiers in the city. There are no men of war here as has been stated, except those out of commission, and having no guns. The preparations described by some of the despatches as in progress here would require an army of 50,000, whereas unless future developments should seem to require large numbers, there are not likely to be altogether 2,000 men brought here. There is absolutely no excitement here.

Cool.

ST LOUIS, Nov 21.—Frost, Democratic candidate for Congress for the 3d district, has addressed a communication to L. S. Metcalf, the Republican candidate, proposing that neither party accept a certificate and request the Governor to order another election, that they withdraw the proceedings now before the court and refer the whole matter back to the people. Metcalf has not yet replied to the proposition.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

LONDON, Nov 21.—A dispatch from St Petersburg says: The dispatch of Prince Gortschakoff to Count Schervaloff, Russian ambassador at London, dated Nov 4th, is published. The Prince expresses satisfaction that Lord Derdy recognized in his dispatch of Oct 30th to Lord Loftus, British ambassador at St Petersburg, which was sent for transmission to Prince Gortschakoff, the efforts of the Russian cabinet to co-operate with England. Prince Gortschakoff explains the necessity arising from the failure of diplomacy to subordinate the integrity of Turkey to the guarantees which are demanded by the interests of humanity and the peace of Europe. In conclusion the Prince denies that Russia entertains after thoughts regarding Constantinople. Another dispatch from Prince Gortschakoff dated Oct 22d expresses Russian regret at England's giving way to groundless apprehensions.

ST PETERSBURG, Nov 21.—The Czar has instructed Gen Schouvaloff to inform Queen Victoria that the Czar desires peace, and that he desires England to be informed of the peaceful intentions of the Czar.

VIENNA, Nov 21.—It is reported that Turkey, desiring to conciliate the Powers, consents to grant autonomy to Bosnia and Herzogovina under the government of Midhat Pasha. Russian and Turkish preparations for war however continue.

ST PETERSBURG, Nov 21.—It is stated that a park of siege artillery consisting of 92 guns is being formed at Chotyn on river Dniester.

PARIS, Nov 21.—A special from Pesth to Le Temps asserts that Russia is determined on war. Similar sensational telegrams are published here. One reports that the council at which the Czar presided Saturday resolved to invade Turkey if the Turks were guilty of the slightest infraction of the armistice.

VIENNA, Nov 21.—A correspondent says Russia has communicated to the powers her demands for reforms which Gen Ignatieff has been instructed to present at the conference. They correspond pretty closely to those last published in Political Correspondence. It is reassuring that Russia when making this communication did not mention the necessity of foreign occupation of the insurgent provinces of Turkey; nevertheless it is certain that the conviction prevails in Russia that their occupation is the only possible way to effect the disarmament of the Mohammedan population. It seems that Gen Schouvaloff has expressed this conviction in London and suggested that France might, as in the case of Syria, be commissioned to occupy the provinces if necessary. The French government, however, declined. The representatives of the Porte abroad have been instructed to make known its resolution that the Sultan neither could nor would under any circumstances consent to the occupation of Turkish territory even by the most friendly power.

LONDON, Nov 21.—A Times despatch from Berlin pronounces unfounded the rumor of impending mobilization of two German army corps.

ST PETERSBURG, Nov 21.—A dispatch from Semlin announced that the Servian ministry have refused a demand of Gen Tchernayeff to be admitted into the cabinet, declaring that if he entered they would resign.

SYRA, Nov 21.—Intelligence is received here that Moukhtar Pasha is concentrating twenty battalions of Turkish troops at Car[illegible] on the Austrian frontier. It is asserted he intends to proceed to Gravosa, where the troops will embark for Constantinople. This would necessitate their marching across Austrian territory. Several Turkish transports, it is said, have already arrived at Gravosa. Up to the present time five Turkish battalions have reached [illegible].

The [illegible] Vienna dispatch explains that there are two centers of military preparation in Southern Russia. Kishenett is the head quarters of the operating army, while at Odessa 120,000 men are being collected under Gen Totleben, who is charged with the defense of the Black Sea coast. It is doubtful whether this force is included in the six corps whose mobilization has already been ordered. The impression on the spot seems to be that mobilization is really going on on a larger scale than has been officially announced, and that in reality more than six army corps are actually being mobilized, while necessary preparations are making for mobilization at a moment's notice on a still larger scale. This seems but natural. Conscription of Bessarabia has already collected 15,000 horses. A large portion of trains suitable for crossing the Danube are arriving in Bessarabia and being sent on to Pruth. Simultaneously with these preparations forts are kept up to excite national enthusiasm, and Russian journals are permitted by press censors to print long warlike articles.

VIENNA, Nov 21.—The Political Correspondence reports that there are 150,000 men of the first and second class of the Turkish reserves who still remain to be called out. 200,000 of the third class are to be called out to replace regular troops now in garrisons.

A correspondent of the Telegraph at Pera says: I am informed that Russia will insist as a sine qua non upon a preliminary conference being held, without a representative of Turkey being present, until the powers shall have agreed upon a programme relative to which the Porte will only be allowed to say yes or no.

LONDON, Nov 21.—The foreign office publishes a dispatch in which Lord Loftus, British ambassador to Russia, reports the details of an audience with the Czar Nov 20. The Czar said he had sent the ultimatum to the Porte because he feared the discomfiture of the Servian army might be followed by atrocities. The Porte had by a series of manouvres frustrated all attempts at pacification. The present state of things was intolerable. Unless Europe was prepared to act firmly and energetically he would be obliged to act alone. He regretted to see the inveterate suspicion and continual fear of Russian aggression that still exists in England. The Czar reminded Lord Loftus that he had on several occasions given the most solemn assurance that he desired no conquests, that he had not the smallest wish or intention to acquire Constantinople. Such acquisition would be a misfortune for Russia. The following are the exact words of that portion of the dispatch referring to Constantinople: The Czar pledged his most sacred word of honor in the most earnest and solemn manner that he had no intention of acquiring Constantinople, and that if necessity should force him to occupy a portion of Bulgaria, it would only be provisionally, until the peace and safety of the Christian population were secured. The Czar could not understand, when both countries had a common object, namely the amelioration of the condition of Christians, and when he had given every proof that he had no desire for conquest, why there should not be a perfect understanding between England and Russia, based upon a policy of peace, which would be equally beneficial to their mutual interests and the interests of Europe generally. The Czar said nothing could be more absurd than the intentions attributed to Russia of the future conquest of India, which was a perfect impossibility. He deeply deplored the distrust manifested in England, and earnestly requested me to do my utmost to dispel it, and charged me to carry to Her Majesty's government the solemn assurance he had given me. The dispatch also states that in regard to rumors that Servia and Roumania demanded that they should be erected into independent kingdoms, the Czar said there was no intention of establishing such kingdoms, and that such a course would be folly. He had permitted officers to go to Servia, provided they left the Russian service, in the hope of calming the agitation in [illegible].

The foregoing dispatch was verified by Prince Gortschakoff before its transmission to Lord Derby, and approved as correctly representing the views expressed by the Czar. Lord Derby replied, instructing Lord Loftus to inform the Czar and Prince Gortschakoff that the Queen and her government received the Czar's assurances with the greatest satisfaction. The Russian government having requested the publication of this correspondence, as it contained assurances of a nature to tranquilize public feeling, Lord Derby informs Lord Loftus that he granted the request, considering the publication opportune in view of the mobilization of the Russian forces and the issue of a loan.

LONDON, Nov 21.—A correspondent explains the origin of the rumor of mobilization in Austro-Hungary, saying the Austro-Hungarian government issued instructions to the authorities throughout the country informing them how to proceed in the event of mobilization. The authorities are enjoined to have notices of ordering mobilization ready for distribution, and to have messengers ready to distribute such notices. Upwards of a hundred thousand [illegible] will be wanted for this business in the [illegible] alone. The railways have also been ordered to furnish returns of the numbers of tracks and wagons available for transport service.

A Berlin dispatch says Austria seems to have determined not to oppose Russian invasion of Bulgaria or English occupation of Constantinople. Austria will probably preserve complete neutrality at the commencement of any war, and proceed to independent action only very gradually. Her first step, if she precipitates war at all, will be to occupy Bosnia.

LONDON, Nov 22.—A correspondent of the Times states that according to positive information from Constantinople, the Porte not only appears to be convinced of the necessity of the reforms proposed, but is even disposed to offer Europe satisfactory guarantees for their execution.

A Times dispatch from Pesth says hopes of the success of the conference are increasing.

Russian Business Collapse.

BERLIN, Nov 22.—It being anticipated in Russia that the domestic loan must soon become a forced loan, the tone of St. Petersburg Bourse is again falling. Trade is in a perfect state of collapse, bankruptcies numerous, deposits rapidly withdrawn from the bank.

VIENNA, Nov 22.—The New Free Press reports Marquis Salisbury bears the draft of a clause to be added to the treaty of Paris, binding the Porte to effect the reforms within a certain period under pain of intervention by the guaranteeing powers.

PESTH, Nov 22.—The Roumanian government is preparing every thing requisite for calling out territorial troops and mobiles, which would increase the Roumanian forces to 100,000.

VIENNA, Nov 21.—The Political Correspondence announces that the Austrian and Hungarian governments have resolved to prohibit exportation of horses.

THE TERRITORIES.

The sod has been broken on the Puyallup coal road.

The top of the hill which overlooks the southern portion of Seattle is gradually working its way down toward its base.

The water has all been pumped out of the Talbot mine at Seattle. A tunnel has been started on the inside to meet the one advancing from the outside. The work is so nearly done that the parties are within hearing of each other's operations and it is confidently expected that coal will begin to move again from this mine next week.

The Seattle Intelligencer says: The diphtheria appears to be greatly on the increase here. Several new cases have been reported in the last day or two. Mr Burian, who lost two children with this disease simultaneously last week, has another lying at the point of death. Since the 22d of May last there has been some sixteen deaths from that disease in this city.

A young man named Willis, late of Oregon, but recently living at Mud Bay, and a Miss Eubanks from Chehalis county were married at the New England House in Olympia on Monday evening by Judge Euler. The girl was under 15 years of age and her father being absent a guardian was appointed and the parties married with this new guardian's consent.

The Seattle Tribune says: The first regular quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Territorial Hospital for the Insane was held at Steilacoom this week. The bills for the whole quarter were audited, approved and ordered paid. From them it was found that the whole expense of clothing and keeping the patients, including the subsistence and salaries of the employes, has been but 40½ cents a day in currency for each patient—a difference in favor of the Territory over the old contract system of 41½ cents. Not only was there this difference in cost, but the Board found that the patients were treated better and were in an improved condition as compared with arrangements of previous years.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 22, 1876

THE LOUISIANA RETURNING BOARD.

As the count of the election returns in Louisiana proceeds, the feeling of distrust, which was manifest throughout the country and in all political parties, seems to be giving way to something like confidence of a fair count. The recollection of 1874 is too fresh in the public mind to admit of the possibility of a perfect faith in this board. It is known that the same power which then counted out Democrats and counted in Republicans so recklessly that a Republican Congressional committee overthrew the whole thing as a flagrant violation of the principles of Republican government, and a Republican Senate refused admission to a person holding a certificate of election by the legislature which that count had set up, still holds ascendency in the board; and this fact naturally gave rise to a general feeling of uneasiness, if not a general sense of danger, when it became apparent that the result of the Presidential election was probably in the hands of the board. It would be uncharitable, and, perhaps, unjust to assume, in the absence of evidence, that but for the precautions that have been taken to prevent a fraudulent count of the Presidential vote, the State would be given to the Republicans whether the vote legally cast entitled them to it or not; but, with the record of the board in view, it was certainly the part of prudence to guard as far as possible against unfairness in counting the returns. Whatever may have been the danger, there seems now to be no reasonable ground to apprehend any attempt by the board to set aside the will of the people. They have invited representative men of both the great political parties to be present at all their meetings and witness all their proceedings. They are conscious of being the focus of popular attention in the whole nation. Whatever they did in 1874, whatever they might do in 1876, under different circumstances, they will hardly venture to violate the laws and falsify the election in the face, and under the direct scrutiny, of the entire American people, who have demanded, in a way which can not be misunderstood, that there be an honest count of the vote, let suffer who may. That the board will decide that they have jurisdiction to inquire whether the vote returned to them by the local or county boards is an honest and lawful vote, or a vote procured by fraud and force, there is no longer any room to doubt. They will take jurisdiction of contests, and will undertake to purge the poll lists of fraudulent and illegal votes. But from the manner and spirit in which they have entered upon the discharge of their duties, there is every reason to believe that they intend to let all parties have a fair hearing and give the country an honest count. This hypothesis is the only one upon which satisfactory explanation can be given of the preliminary proceedings of the board, among which are the invitation to gentlemen of the opposite party to be present, a resolution to require counsel representing a party contesting the legality of any vote to serve the representative of the adverse party, in advance, with notice of the witnesses to be examined and the interrogations to be propounded, and the permission to counsel of either party to file written arguments on any question that may arise in the course of their proceedings. More than this could not reasonably be expected. The propriety of investing in a board constituted as the Louisiana returning board is, with such powers as the laws of that State confer on the board, is open to question; but, the board has approached, and entered upon, its task with every appearance of a determination to perform it in such a manner as shall satisfy the country with the result. There is delicate work before the board, work that could never be so well performed, by any body of men, no matter how constituted, as completely to silence all complaint. There are those, and neither the Democratic nor Republican party is without them, who will accept nothing as right, which does not give their party control of the government. They would suspect partisan corruption in the count if it were made by the Supreme Court of the United States after patient investigation of every individual vote cast and every charge of intimidation. But such are not the mass of the American people. A canvass which is open to public inspection, which is watched by men of both parties selected for that purpose on account of their learning, shrewdness and sound judgment, and against which no specification of corruption can be proven, will command the confidence and cheerful acquiescence of the fair-minded majority in both parties. Such a canvass, we candidly believe, may now be looked for, even at the hands of the Louisiana returning board.

THE MERCURY'S MISREPRESENTATIONS.

We had occasion a few days since to call attention to a misrepresentation by the Mercury of the OREGONIAN'S position with reference to the vote of the disputed Southern States. Those who have observed the course of the Mercury in that matter will hardly be surprised at any misstatement it may make. It may be unnecessary, therefore, but it can do no harm to make another exhibit of its misapprehension or perversion of facts. From an editorial article in Monday's edition of the Mercury we take the following:

> The cry of proposed fraud on the part of the Democracy was raised to cloak like designs on their own part, and the army placed in the South to intimidate voters and furnish a pretext for its use in those States, if necessary, to coerce them into a support of the radical party. This programme is being faithfully carried out: county after county is being thrown out upon the simple pretext of frauds, until sufficient majorities are made up to suit their purpose. This overriding of the popular will of States by arbitrary means meets the approval of the OREGONIAN when perpetrated in the interest of its political party.

So far from this statement being true, the troops sent South were specially instructed not to meddle with the voting, but to confine themselves strictly to the repression of violence. Equally untruthful is the statement that "county after county of the returns is being thrown out. Not a county has been thrown out by any returning board. Whatever may be done hereafter, as the result of the investigation of election frauds, not a single county nor part of a county has yet been rejected, though there is no shadow of a doubt that many of them ought to be. Even more untruthful, if possible, is the statement that the OREGONIAN approves of or defends the "overriding of the popular will by arbitrary means," in the interest of any party. The OREGONIAN was the first paper in this State to speak out for an honest count of the vote in the disputed Suthern States, though it cost the Republican party its control of the nation. The OREGONIAN has expressed its distrust of the men in whose hands the Republican organization in Louisiana rests, in as emphatic terms as those in which it has expressed its condemnation of the violence and fraud resorted to by the Democratic white-liners to carry that State. And the OREGONIAN now demands a fair count in Oregon, and has reason to press that demand and to warn the people of the danger that is daily growing more and more imminent, that even the large Republican majority in Oregon will be annulled by the counting and certifying officers who belong to the Mercury's party.

The Mercury, organ of the Governor, is clamoring for the exclusion of Dr. Watts from the office of Presidential elector, because he was a postmaster on the day of election. It would not signify much what the Mercury might say on the subject, were it not for the well-known relations of that paper to the State executive; but when those relations are taken into account, its utterances become not only important but ominous. Their evident purpose is to work up the sentiment of the Democratic masses to a point that will give the Governor the backing of his party in trampling upon the laws of the country and the emphatically pronounced will of the people of the State, and excluding one of the legal electors and giving his place to a repudiated Democrat. Such a purpose is further evidenced by the fact that Senator Kelly, who started for Washington last week, has been telegraphed at San Francisco and requested to turn back, and that in response he left San Francisco yesterday overland for Oregon. This information comes in a private telegram received here yesterday afternoon from a gentleman in San Francisco who is keeping close watch of events down there. Congress will meet next Monday week. Kelly's trip to Oregon will make it impossible for him to be in his place in the Senate at that time. Nothing short of some important move on the political chess board in Oregon could have caused this sudden change of base by him.

The organs of the reform Democracy in Oregon still keep up the foolish din about fraudulent votes in the recent election. It seems impossible that they can be so blinded by partisan prejudice as to believe there is the slightest foundation for the charge of fraud. The vote in the State shows no extraordinary increase over that of former elections. Multnomah county polled a heavier vote by considerable than usual, but that is accounted for by the fact that a large number of citizens from other parts of the State voted here. The great Republican demonstration in this city the night before the election, attracted many Republicans from different sections of Oregon, and of these a large per centage remained till after the election, and cast their votes in this county. In this way the vote of this county, and especially the Republican vote, was swelled considerably, but it was swelled at the expense of other counties. The aggregate vote of the State is no larger than it has been made by increase of population. This cry of fraud is raised for the purpose of giving the semblance of justice to the revolutionary and iniquitous scheme by which Hayes is to be denied the vote of one of the electors of this State.

If it is true, as a correspondent asserts, that there were frauds in the election in Philadelphia as well as New York, and if it is true that such frauds were perpetrated in the interest of the Republican party, the Republican party of Philadelphia should be held up to the same public condemnation as the New York Democracy. There has long been an unsavory oder about Republicanism in the Keystone State, and it is by no means unlikely the managers have been plying their avocation in Brotherly Love and drab coats. May it not be, however, that the fraudulent registration was a Democratic enterprise, entered into for the purpose of providing a way to "get in their work" with the bogus tax receipts which they were caught in the act of manufacturing? Put this and that together.

How would the joke stand if it should turn out that Dr. Watts' resignation as Postmaster was sent to Washington and accepted as much as two or three weeks before the election? Quien Sabe!

WHAT IS THE MATTER?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

We, the undersigned subscribers, would inform you that our papers come to hand three weeks behind time. They were left at the Seaside postoffice. We want our papers regularly or not at all. Please see the mail agent about it and have them come regularly if possible.

NEW YORK VS. PHILADELPHIA.

WHERE IS THE FRAUD?

SALEM, Nov. 17, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

You charge that great frauds were committed in New York, at the recent election, and by the Tilden party. No proofs are offered, and the implication is that the charge rests upon the alleged large vote cast there. The registry in New York amounted to 183,000. Philadelphia is a Republican city, and has just given some 15,000 majority for Hayes. And though for many years charges of Republican frauds on the ballot in that city have been rife, the OREGONIAN makes none. Philadelphia has some 200,000 less inhabitants than New York, and yet, at the recent election, the registry of Philadelphia amounted to 185,000—2,000 more votes were registered with 200,000 less inhabitants than in New York. And, I presume the votes cast in the two cities were about in like proportion. If the registration and voting in Philadelphia was honest, and the OREGONIAN does not complain that it was not, it would seem that that of New York could not be far wrong, unless it was too small.

It is charged that a system of terrorism has prevented a free and fair vote in the so-called States of Louisiana, South Carolina and Florida. Does not the fact that many Republicans have voted for Hayes and Hampton in South Carolina, and that the State may have gone for the Democratic Governor and Republican Electors, go far towards vindicating the freedom and integrity of the election there?

CITY.

ON HER BEST BEHAVIOR.—Dame Nature was on her best behavior yesterday and put on her most becoming dress She wore an atmosphere of witching gentleness There was a spring-like balminess in the air and one [illegible] that stern winter is near the door [illegible] have thought that he had caught a [illegible] of the radiant days of early May be[illegible] the tearful showers of April Nature's [illegible] yesterday was of the bluest sky [illegible] while her skirts combined fantastic colors—sweet mingling with the emerald Surely the tasteful matron must have felt that the style of her attire was somewhat at variance with the requirements of the season Hers was no appropriate garb for the sober days that are supposed to belong to winter But nothing [illegible], she tossed her head of beauty as if to say "Is not winter my slave? If I choose to smile who shall forbid me?" And she did smile, too yesterday long and lovingly No wonder that basking in her bounty of bright [illegible] and azure skies her children grew glad and happy No wonder the streets were crowded with merry throngs who came forth to revel in her beauty and favor No wonder the southward speeding birds stopped in their [illegible] to linger yet a day and sing once more their [illegible] songs The very trees whose [illegible] droop and fall with their departing [illegible] looked gratefully to heaven for this brief respite from decay It was Nature's [illegible] day, and for all the care existing within [illegible] dread winter and November [illegible] have been years afar In plain [illegible] we will parenthetically remark [illegible] that yesterday was an all [illegible] day" and then close our gushing [illegible] If Madam Nature will only repeat the [illegible] of yesterday, we will promise her [illegible] no more.

EXTRAORDINARY.—Some time [illegible] we made mention of the exploits of two [illegible] who live in this city These [illegible] went out hunting, and in the [illegible] day [illegible] in bagging over 60 [illegible] at the time it was ex[illegible] shooting, and called for some per[illegible]. Now this challenge brings to [illegible] Mr. Henney, living near Shoalwater Bay, Washington Territory, who claims [illegible] to carry the feather Mr Henney says he went out hunting lately at [illegible] in 34 hours shot 78 ducks. In [illegible] shot he brought down 35 [illegible] he got 127 on another day He [illegible] down 97 snipe at a single shot; [illegible] his shots he brought down 25 [illegible] shooting was done at the head of [illegible] Bay, about five miles from Unity [illegible] were dressed and sold at Astoria at [illegible] and the feathers will bring a [illegible] home return This gets away [illegible] with our Portland nimrods If [illegible] has "discounted" Mr Henney let [illegible] forward. We should rejoice to see the color of his hair.

[illegible] RETURNED.—Says the Statesman [illegible] J. M Boyd, of Baker county arrived in [illegible] (Tuesday) night, in company with [illegible] Tompkins and J C Moreland, [illegible] pardons from the President of the [illegible] to Tompkins, Hanson Bramhall and White. "Doc" Boyd promised the [illegible] that he would not call on [illegible] until he could take them out as [illegible] He performed that feat last night, [illegible] named prisoners are now breathing the air of freedom, and will never cease to [illegible] of Dr. Boyd." Last evening's [illegible] down these released prisoners, [illegible] in this city. We understand that [illegible] to return to their old homes, [illegible] mountains, and engage in usual [illegible] raising and agriculture It [illegible] that their future may be brighter [illegible] than has been their lot [illegible] years.

WHITE AND ARLINGTON.—William [illegible] the celebrated burnt cork artist [illegible] and reputation is too well known [illegible] comment, and R. C White, Esq., [illegible] painter and poet, have formed a [illegible] and propose to make a professional [illegible] of the State Mr. White will exhibit [illegible] panorama and deliver a lecture on [illegible] in our Great National Park, or "Wonderland," after which Mr Arlington will appear in a number of his specialities, consisting of banjo solos, comic [illegible] hits, etc. These gentlemen contemplate giving an entertainment in Oregon [illegible] evening. They will probably [illegible] in this city soon.

[illegible] THIS?—In the Bellefontaine Democrat of [illegible], we find the following rather [illegible] story: "Three Norwegian sailors, [illegible] shipwrecked while on a voyage [illegible] a few months since and res[illegible] a passing bark, arrived here last [illegible] started on foot for Portland where [illegible] live. The vessel of which they [illegible] of the crew foundered and was [illegible] up near the shores of Nova Scotia [illegible] were landed at a French hamlet where [illegible] cared for and furnished with a little [illegible] to take them to their relatives in [illegible]"

[illegible]LAHAMA.—Work on the W. R. T. & [illegible] new boat, the Okklahama is being [illegible] with all vigor, and she will [illegible] active service in a few days As [illegible] the work is finished Capt Flanders [illegible] the required inspection of the new [illegible] and James Lotan will subject the [illegible] the usual test. When that shall [illegible] done, we expect soon to hear the [illegible] of the Okklahama about these [illegible]. The new steamer promises to be a [illegible] as far as speed and power is con[illegible].

[illegible] UNFORTUNATE.—The evening co[illegible] [illegible] authority for the statement that [illegible] Yamhill county who had [illegible] property for the sum of $800 [illegible] to this city with the view of emigrating to San Francisco, where his family [illegible] Unfortunately fell in with some bunko [illegible] was persuaded to invest and [illegible] felicity of seeing his [illegible] like an exhalation A fool [illegible] is soon parted was not written in vain, it seems.

[illegible] HER CARGO.—The fine British [illegible] Capt Thompson master [illegible] her cargo of grain for Europe [illegible] probably go down the river today [illegible] can be procured Capt Snow [illegible] experienced river pilot will take [illegible] down to Astoria All the [illegible] of this vessel has been received at this [illegible] lightering will be necessary She [illegible] feet and will make the run to [illegible] without touching the sand

[illegible].—The train from the South [illegible] arrived last evening had on board a [illegible] couple who had ran away from their [illegible] habitations in Eugene City The [illegible] of the offense being communicated to the young gentleman that individual concluded that discretion was the better part [illegible] and accordingly quit the cars at the [illegible] leaving his companion to take care of herself. A lady learning of the case took the [illegible] girl to the hotel where they are [illegible].

RIVER AND HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS

Work will be commenced next week at Pine Tree Rapids on Snake river and at Owyhee Rapids on the Columbia river

All surveys required by the board of engineers for the Columbia and Wallamet rivers have been completed The board will probably meet for final action in January

Surveys of the Cascade canal will commence about the 1st of December Mr [illegible] an experienced engineer who will have personal superintendence of the work is expected to arrive on the Elder

A new cistern with a capacity of [illegible],000 gallons has just been completed at Ediz Hook Repairs are being made to the cistern and buildings at Cape Hancock. A new plank roadway is also being laid from the keeper's building to the tower

Owing to the high water the dredge and snag puller have gone into winter quarters Operations will not be resumed before next March Meantime everything will be overhauled and put in good repair for next season's work

Messrs [illegible] & Ballantyne who have the contract to build a breakwater at Point Adams to prevent further encroachment of the sea on the land met with a heavy loss a few days since These gentlemen have the contract of furnishing 2,000 tons of rock which is to be laid in such a manner along the shore lines as to counteract the effect of the tide and wind and cause the rapid erosions to cease The stone is obtained somewhere near Tongue Point, and transported in boats down to where the break water is to be constructed Last week a large scow having on board 100 tons of rock was carried on the shore by the force of the sea and everything lost Contrary to the advice of those who were conversant with the direction of the wind and current and the danger of attempting to land the contractor endeavored to reach a certain point with the scow They failed to land in time one evening and foolishly left the scow at anchor near the shore During the night a heavy sea came up and swept the boat on the beach and made a wreck of everything The contractors evince a good deal of pluck, and express a determination to carry out the conditions of the contract cost what it may Hereafter they will land the rock at a point of safety and haul it down to the place where the break water is to be built To lose the first load and have their barge wrecked is rather disheartening to the contractors

NOTES FROM FORT WRANGEL

A correspondent sends the following to the Sitka Post of a late date

The trading house of Mr Wm King Lear has experienced a change of management [illegible] business complications having induced Mr Lear to turn his whole establishment over to Mr J M Vanderbilt (late the gentlemanly purser of the steamship California) who does the agreeable in a business like way to the numerous friends and customers of the house

Religiously Wrangel is improving A party [illegible] Fort Simpson (B C) Indians have been employed here all summer in [illegible] and they have carried on a system of meetings in a regular methodist manner that have been interesting to witness and that evidently have tended to set the Stickeens [illegible] and others around here to thinking

Wrangel has enjoyed a very pleasant summer and the good weather holds on remarkably well The ladies here enjoy it and the way they display the latest New York and Paris fashions [illegible] possible occasion shows that some parties in Wrangel must [illegible] thrifty business A few of the fair damsels of Klawock pay us an occasional visit and vie with our own [illegible] all their [illegible]ness and verily I believe they bear off the palm for gorgeousness

During the past two months many "dead broke" and disgusted miners have come down from the Cassiar mines and the steamers going below have had large passenger lists for this season but quite a percentage go as "dead heads" not having money enough to pay a fare of ten dollars to Victoria The general impression is that the Cassiar district has seen its best days and unless something new is struck this fall Cassiar will be on the down grade A few men comparatively speaking are doing well in the diggings but the number of claims that will pay to work another season are growing rapidly less There has probably been eighteen hundred men in the district this season which was far more than could find employment

In May last a party of sixteen men thoroughly equipped and provisioned for a six months trip left here to prospect the Farco country Eight of the number returned to Wrangel several days ago and report that they had prospected the Farco river and its tributaries including a large lake to a considerable extent but give no encouragement to miners to expect anything big in that section Eight men still remain prospecting with the veteran Mike Lowers among them and we may yet hear something startling from the Farco The party which has returned reports that they prospected quite extensively on their way down and that some seven miles from Wrangel they struck good prospects at a point very easy of access and which they believe would pay pretty fairly and I believe steps are being taken by men who mean business to test the genuineness of the report

For a trifle you can get an excellent meal at headquarters—Barnes' Central Market

The Sacramento Bee tells the following anecdote [illegible] an Oregon clergyman Dr R B [illegible] a dentist of San Francisco received an order recently from an acquaintance in Willamette Oregon, a minister of the gospel, for a set of false teeth The work was promptly executed and the reverend gentleman called at the doctor's office last week when they were properly fixed in his mouth The parson stepping to the glass to see the effect greatly surprised the dentist by saying slowly and distinctly "Jesus Christ! Jesus Christ!" The anger of the dentist was quickly aroused at the same time saying "Well sir, if you don't like the teeth you needn't take them but there's no necessity of swearing about it" The astonished clergyman drew back "My dear sir I was not swearing about the teeth—but for years I have not been able to pronounce my beloved Saviour's name distinctly I was only trying my teeth!" The dentist was satisfied and they parted on the best of terms—in spite of their teeth

Gold Bars [illegible]

The recent decline in the price of silver seems to have been [illegible] checked and instead of there being an [illegible] supply of this metal the authorities of the United States are purchasing it in bars and [illegible] for coining in the mint at Philadelphia. A late number of the London Economist gives currency to the report that the United States Government has [illegible] quietly buying up silver in the London market and has secured at least $1,000,000 for coinage. The rumor is probably true and for the following reasons: United States Mint Director Linderman is a buyer of silver on a large scale, and is apparently unable to secure in this country all he needs at the price which he has offered, and as the metal is relatively lower in London than here, it is natural that he should go there for it. Whatever be the facts in the case, it is certain that the silver market is in a much better condition than it was a few months ago, when the London quotation was down to 46d against 54d at this time. This quotation is still about 5½ per cent below the par of gold, but is the highest quotation we have had in several months. The steamship Oder arrived at New York from Southampton Nov 13th having on board $63,000 in silver bars purchased in London by Director Linderman for coinage purposes. This is only the first installment. Indeed, [illegible] officials elicit the information that the [illegible] purchases [illegible] to over $2,000,000, all of which will in due time be landed at New York. For several weeks the price of fine silver bars has been higher in San Francisco and New York than in London. The Director of the Mint, who has been forced to [illegible] his purchasing limit all along, foreseeing that if the product of the mines was not increased the silver necessary for coinage purposes would be an expensive luxury, has happily entered the London market and taken advantage of the prices ruling there. The commercial interest of the Pacific coast will rather be benefited than injured by this direction in the general price of silver.

The local market as far as financial matters are concerned has undergone no important change and though the outlook in some quarters is [illegible] with good deal of anxiety, there is no general fear of any serious complication to embarrass [illegible] the usual volume of trade.

The new Mortgage and Savings bank in this city is now in active operation and is reported to have begun business under very favorable auspices. The resident directors and officers are among the most prominent and favorably known citizens of Portland, and the institution starts out with the [illegible] of the community.

Miscellaneous.

Since harvest commenced the deliveries of wheat in the 150 principal markets in England have amounted to 402,573 quarters, against 341,777 in 1875. In the whole United Kingdom it is estimated that the receipts have been 1,611,000 quarters against 1,367,108 quarters in 1875, showing an increase this year of 244,106 quarters.

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 15th says "The hop crop of Oregon and Washington Territory is now moving forward in large shipments by each steamer from Portland and the Sound. There [illegible] at the dullness of trade and drooping prices, and it is evident that the growers who sold early in the season acted wisely."

A. J. Maguire's October circular gives the following sales of ship property in New York for the [illegible]: Ship Tranquebar, 1307 tons register, built at [illegible], Me., 1868, metalled July 1871, $30,000. Ship Aurora, 1636 tons register, built at New York 1854, metalled August, 1874, $30,000. Bark G W [illegible], 399 tons register, built at Bucksport, Me., 1864, metalled July 1873, $2,000. Bark Albert, 319 tons [illegible], built at Marblehead, Mass. 1862, metalled 1873, $9,000. Brig Julia Blake, 154 tons register, built in Nova Scotia, 1869, metalled 1875, $11,000. Schr E J Willard, 367 tons register, built at Bath, Me., 1872, $10,000. Schr Menawa, 211 tons register, built at Long Island, 1864, not metalled, $1,750.

The Hudson Bay Co.'s bark Lady Head left Victoria on [illegible] day afternoon for London with a cargo of furs and skins which will probably arrive just in time for Lampson's March sales.

Fourteen ships and barks arrived at San Francisco last week from foreign and domestic Atlantic ports, [illegible] about 20,000 tons of tonnage and as many more are expected there this week.

A Boston correspondent writes that two thirds of the cotton and woolen mills in New England are running on full time. In some instances, in view of the [illegible] times, the wages of the operatives have been [illegible] to somewhat near the figures that were in force before the dull period set in. In Boston, as well as in New York, the dry goods trade has been in the hight of activity.

Ernest Wells' latest received hop circular contains the following: "We notice considerable pressure to [illegible] on medium and low grades, the stock of which is fast accumulating. Choice shipping hops keep firm in price, and are by no means plenty. Late reports from Germany indicate that Americans take the preference above all foreign hops. This will be encouraging news to shippers and holders of fine goods. We have already shipped to Europe over 10,000 bales of our new crop against 6,000 during the corresponding season last year. Prices in London are looking up but dealers are not ready to meet our price, consequently very few hops are going forward to that market from here." The San Francisco market has been dull and quiet, owing to a difference of opinion regarding prices. The exports from July 1st to October 31st inclusive 409,654 lbs of which 330,366 lbs [illegible]

In no corresponding period in the history of the [illegible] of California have the exports been so large as during the last four months. Up to the 11th inst. the shipments to Great Britain and continental ports aggregated 5,803,000 centals valued at $9,399,000.

Speaking of the last advance in prices for sugars the San Francisco Bulletin says: There are apparently no local [illegible] for such action. The demand is usually light at this season of the year. Both refineries are again in running order with two more idle for want of business. The supply of raws is abundant and several more cargoes are expected in the next 45 days, including five from Honolulu, two from Manila and one or more from Batavia. The refiners, however, think they can get the advance as they have a clear field, and no doubt they are correct in their surmise. Just now they are working for dividends to stockholders and not with any particular motive of generosity to consumers.

A large acreage of fall wheat has been planted on the uplands in this State during the fall month and prognostications of a full average crop are already made.

The report of a blight seriously affecting the potato crop in some parts of the State seems not to have been true as to the region from which this market is supplied. The receipts here are larger than the demand.

A London cable says it is believed that the British ship Agnes Oswald has been lost. She is now 160 days out from Glasgow for this port, which is said to be an unusual passage. A New York dispatch of November 16th says: Sixty guineas per cent paid at Lloyds on the British ship Agnes Oswald, supposed to be lost.

A large amount of freight awaits the sailing of the steamship Elder which will probably not leave this port before Saturday.

The recent rise in the river has enabled the boats to reach the highest navigable points and large quantities of freight are reaching Portland from the southern portion of the valley.

The apple crop this season in this valley promises to turn out about average and dealers anticipate very fair prices later in the season. So far but little has been done except the supplying of the home market, only a few hundred boxes having yet been shipped, but the business will increase rapidly during the next few weeks.

The last advance in wheat has [illegible] the amount of that cereal in this market and the receipts have been largely increased. The sales have [illegible] free and [illegible] is at hand will have quick [illegible]

An [illegible] demand for provisions is now ruling in this market, and [illegible] stocks of [illegible] are quite exhausted. The few lots of new which have arrived have been quickly taken and the local trade [illegible] is not supplied.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Geo W Elder will leave San Francisco the next Sunday morning with freight and passengers for this port.

[illegible] will sail hence for [illegible] and intermediate points on Friday November 24th.

OBJECTS.

This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of thirty one gentlemen citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an institution which similar to those in California the working, farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory (in which the Bank's operations are limited) secured by Mortgages over City Property, Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the industries of the North Pacific Coast.

The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities their policy will be to guard depositors' moneys and the stockholders' capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business, confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted such as real estate loans, advances on bonds, as ligaments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value, hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone or Bills of Exchange and such like.

Security to Depositors

The security for repayment of Depositors' moneys is two fold.

1st. Not only the mortgages, assignments, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured thereby, which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory, but also,

2d. The Bank's own $300,000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom, thus forming a double security for depositors' moneys.

No charge for entrance fee or pass books.

Deposits received from $2 50 and upwards.

Rates of interest on application.

Hours from 10 A M to 3 P M.

Certified copies of Incorporation, Constitution, Articles of Association, Regulations and its laws for depositors may be seen at the Bank's office.

The recent decline in the price of silver seems to have been effectually checked, and instead of there being such an over-supply of this metal the authorities of the United States are purchasing it in bars in England for coinage in the mint at Philadelphia. A late number of the London Economist gives currency to the report that the United States Government has been quietly buying up silver in the London market, and has secured at least $1,000,000 for coinage. The rumor is probably true, and for the following reasons: United States Mint Director Linderman is a buyer of silver on a large scale, and is apparently unable to secure in this country all he needs at the price which he has offered; and as the metal is relatively lower in London than here, it is natural that he should go there for it. Whatever be the facts in the case, it is certain that the silver market is in a much better condition than it was a few months ago, when the London quotation was down to 46d, against 54d at this time. This quotation is still about 5½ per cent. below the par of gold, but is the highest quotation we have had in several months. The steamship Oder arrived at New York from Southampton Nov. 14th, having on board $63,000 in silver bars purchased in London by Director Linderman, for coinage purposes. This is only the first installment. [illegible] elicit the information that the [illegible] purchased amounts to over $1,000,000, all of which will in due time be landed at New York. For several weeks, the price of fine silver bars has been higher in San Francisco and New York than in London. The Director of the Mint, who has been forced to advance his purchasing limit all along, foreseeing that if the product of the mines was not increased the silver necessary for coinage purposes would be an expensive luxury, has happily entered the London market and taken advantage of the prices ruling there. The commercial interest of the Pacific coast will rather be benefited than injured by this direction in the general price of silver.

The local market, as far as financial matters are concerned, has undergone no important change, and though the outlook in some quarters is [illegible] a deal of anxiety, there is no general fear of any serious complication to embarrass [illegible] the usual volume of trade.

The new Mortgage and Savings bank in this city, is now in active operation and is reported to have begun business under very favorable auspices. The resident directors and officers are among the most prominent and favorably known citizens of Portland, and the institution starts out with the [illegible] of the community.

Miscellaneous.

Since harvest commenced the deliveries of wheat in the 150 principal markets in England have amounted to 402,673 quarters, against 341,771 in 1875. In the whole United Kingdom it is estimated that the receipts have been 1,511,000 quarters against 1,267,100 quarters in 1875, showing an increase this year of 244,100 quarters.

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 15th, says: "The hop crop of Oregon and Washington Territory is now [illegible] forward in large shipments by each [illegible] from Portland and the Sound. There [illegible] at the dullness of trade and drooping prices, and it is evident that the growers who sold early in the season acted wisely."

A. J. Maguire's October circular gives the following sales of ship property in New York for the [illegible] Tremont, 1307 tons register, built [illegible] Me., 1869, [illegible] July 1872, $50,000. Ship Aurora, 1836 tons register, built at New York, 1864, [illegible] August, 1874, $30,000. Bark G. W. Roosevelt, [illegible] tons register, built at Bucksport, Me., 1864, metalled July 1873, $2,000. Bark Albert, 315 [illegible] built at Marshfield, Mass., 1862, metalled 1873, [illegible]. Brig Julia Blake, 154 tons register, built in Nova Scotia, 1869, metalled 1875, $4,100. Schr E. J. Willard, 367 tons register, built at Bath, Me., 1867, $10,000. Schr Menawa, 211 tons register, built at Long Island, 1861, not metalled, $1,750.

The Hudson Bay Co.'s bark Lady Head left Victoria on Sunday afternoon for London with a cargo of furs and skins, which will probably arrive out in time for Lampson's March sales.

Fourteen ships and barks arrived at San Francisco last week from foreign and domestic Atlantic ports, representing about 20,000 tons of tonnage, and as many more are expected there this week.

A Boston correspondent writes that two thirds of the cotton and woolen mills in New England are [illegible] on full time. In some instances, in view of the [illegible] times, the wages of the operatives have been [illegible] to somewhat near the figures that were in force before the dull period set in. In Boston, as well as in New York, the dry goods trade has been in the hight of activity.

Emmet Wells' latest received hop circular contains the following: "We notice considerable pressure to [illegible] on medium and low grades, the stock of which is fast accumulating. Choice shipping hops [illegible] firm in price, and are by no means plenty. Late reports from Germany indicate that American take the preference above all foreign hops. This will be encouraging news to shippers and holders of fine goods. We have already shipped to Europe over 10,000 bales of our new crop, against 6,000 during the corresponding season last year. Prices in London are looking up, but dealers [illegible] are not ready to meet our price, consequently very few hops are going forward to that market from here." The San Francisco market has been dull and quiet, owing to a difference of opinion regarding prices. The exports from July 1st to October 31st inclusive 400,534 lbs, of which 200,398 lbs went [illegible].

In no corresponding period in the history of the wheat [illegible] of California have the exports been so large as during the last four months. Up to the 11th inst. the shipments to Great Britain and continental ports aggregated 5,808,000 centals, valued at $9,300,000.

Speaking of the last advance in prices for sugars the San Francisco Bulletin says: "There are apparently no local reasons for such action. The demand is usually light at this season of the year. Both refineries are again in running order, with two more idle for want of business. The supply of raws is abundant, and several more cargoes are expected in the next 45 days, including five from Honolulu, two from Manila and one or more from Batavia. The refiners, however, think they can get the advance, as they have a clear field, and no doubt they are correct in their surmise. Just now they are working for dividends to stockholders and not with any particular motive of generosity to consumers."

A large acreage of fall wheat has been planted on the uplands in this state during the fall months, and prognostications of a full average crop are already made.

The report of a blight seriously affecting the potato crop in some parts of the State, seems not to have been true, as to the region from which this market is supplied. The receipts here are larger than the demand.

A London cable says it is believed that the British ship Agnes Oswald has been lost. She is now 165 days out from Glasgow for this port, which is said to be an unusual passage. A New York dispatch of November 16th says: "Sixty guineas per cent paid at Lloyds' on the British ship Agnes Oswald, supposed to be lost."

A large amount of freight awaits the sailing of the steamship Elder, which will probably not leave this port before Saturday.

The recent rise in the river has enabled the boats to reach the highest navigable points, and large quantities of freight are reaching Portland from the southern portion of the valley.

The apple crop this season in this valley promises to turn out about average, and dealers anticipate very fair prices later in the season. So far but little has been done except the supplying of the home market, only a few hundred boxes having yet been shipped, but the business will increase rapidly during the next few weeks.

The last advance in wheat has accelerated the [illegible] of that cereal in this market and the receipts have been largely increased. The [illegible] have [illegible] free and [illegible] at hand will have quick dispatch.

An active demand for provisions is now ruling in this market and the [illegible] stocks of [illegible] are quite exhausted. The few lots of new which have arrived have been quickly taken and the local trade even is not supplied.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Geo. W. Elder will leave San Francisco next Tuesday morning with freight and passengers for this port.

The steamship Gussie Telfair is advertised to sail hence for Sitka and intermediate points on Friday, November 24th.

The British ship Wonsung arrived off San Francisco November 11th, and was ordered to proceed to this port to load wheat for Europe and it is therefore about due here.

The British ship Hertfordshire cleared to-day for Europe with a wheat cargo.

The Oregon ship Western Shore will load wheat at San Francisco for Europe.

The ship John Jay, being employed in the coast lumber trade, has been sold to parties in New Bedford for $8,000, and will be fitted out as a whaler. The vessel was built in New York in 1827, and is therefore nearly fifty years old.

OBJECTS.

This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of thirty one gentlemen, citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an institution where similar to those in California, the working, farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory (to which the Bank's operations are limited) secured from Mortgages over City Properties, Farming and other Lands, for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the industries of the North Pacific Coast.

The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities, their policy will be to guard depositors' moneys and the stockholders' capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business, confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted, such as real estate loans, advances on bonds, assignments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value; hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone, or Bills of Exchange and such like.

Security to Depositors.

The security for repayment of Depositors' moneys is two fold:

1st. Not only the mortgages, assignments, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured thereby, which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory; but also,

2d. The Bank's own $300,000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors, in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom, thus forming a double security for depositors' moneys.

No charge for entrance fee or pass books.

Deposits received from $2 50 and upwards.

Rates of interest on application.

Hours, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Certificate of Incorporation, Constitution, Articles of Association, Regulations and By laws for depositors, may be seen at the Bank's office.

By order of Directors.
